SCHOLASTIC

WIN A SET OF Broken Sky BOOKS!

Kia and Ryushi, the stars of these excellent adventure books from Scholastic are waiting for you to read their story! The quiet isolated world they know is collapsing around them and they are suddenly plunged into a desperate conflict with the fate of more than one world at stake...

Broken Sky is an exciting serial novel and you can seize this unique opportunity to get your hands on the first three books in this action-packed series from Scholastic.

We have 20 sets of 3 Broken Sky books to give away. All you have to do to stand a chance of winning a set is answer this easy question:

What are the names of the main characters of the Broken Sky books?

A) Rice and Sushi B) Kyshi and Ria C) Kia and Ryushi

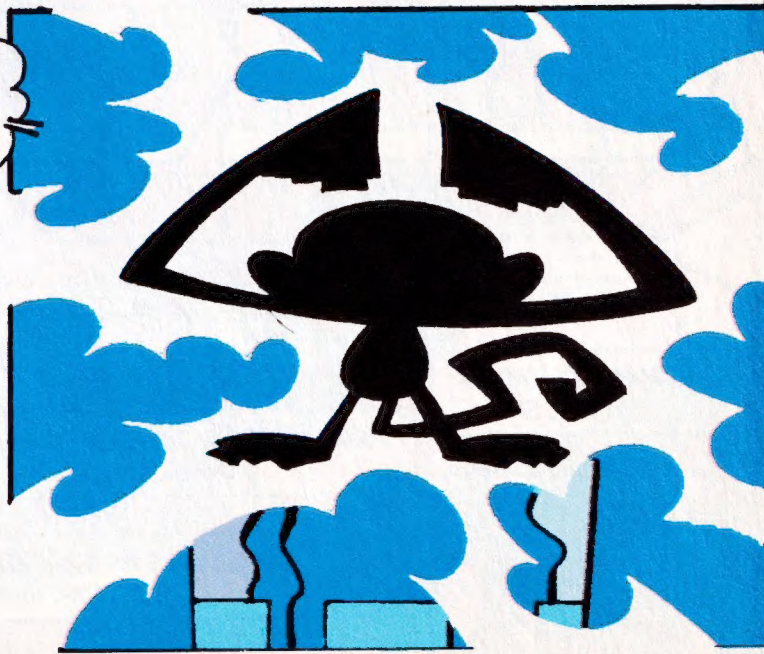

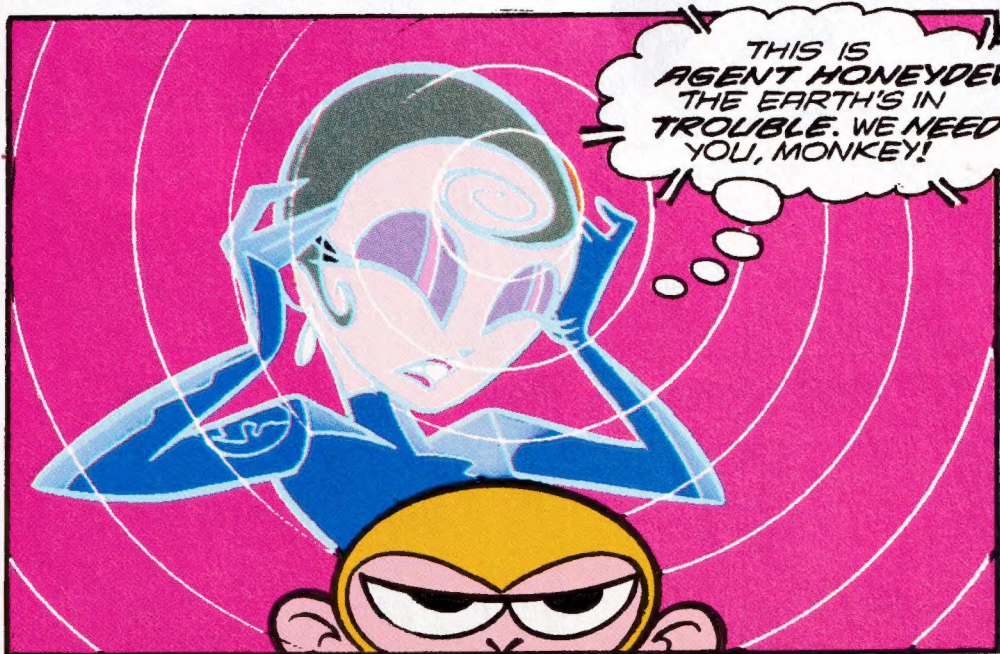

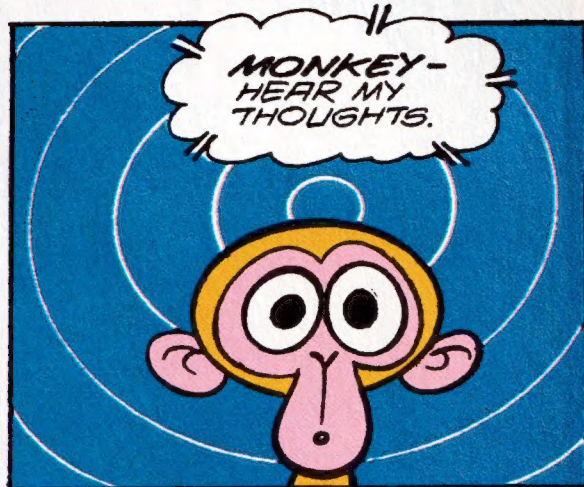

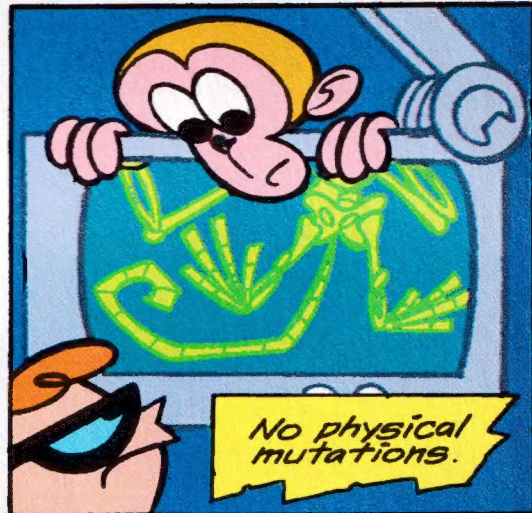

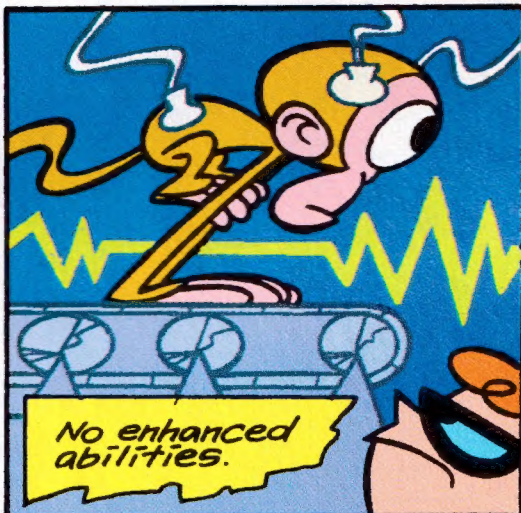

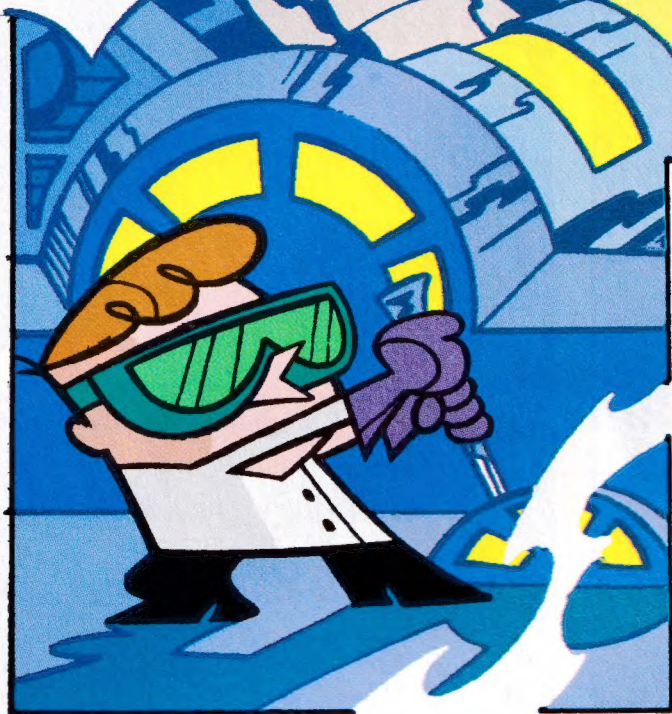

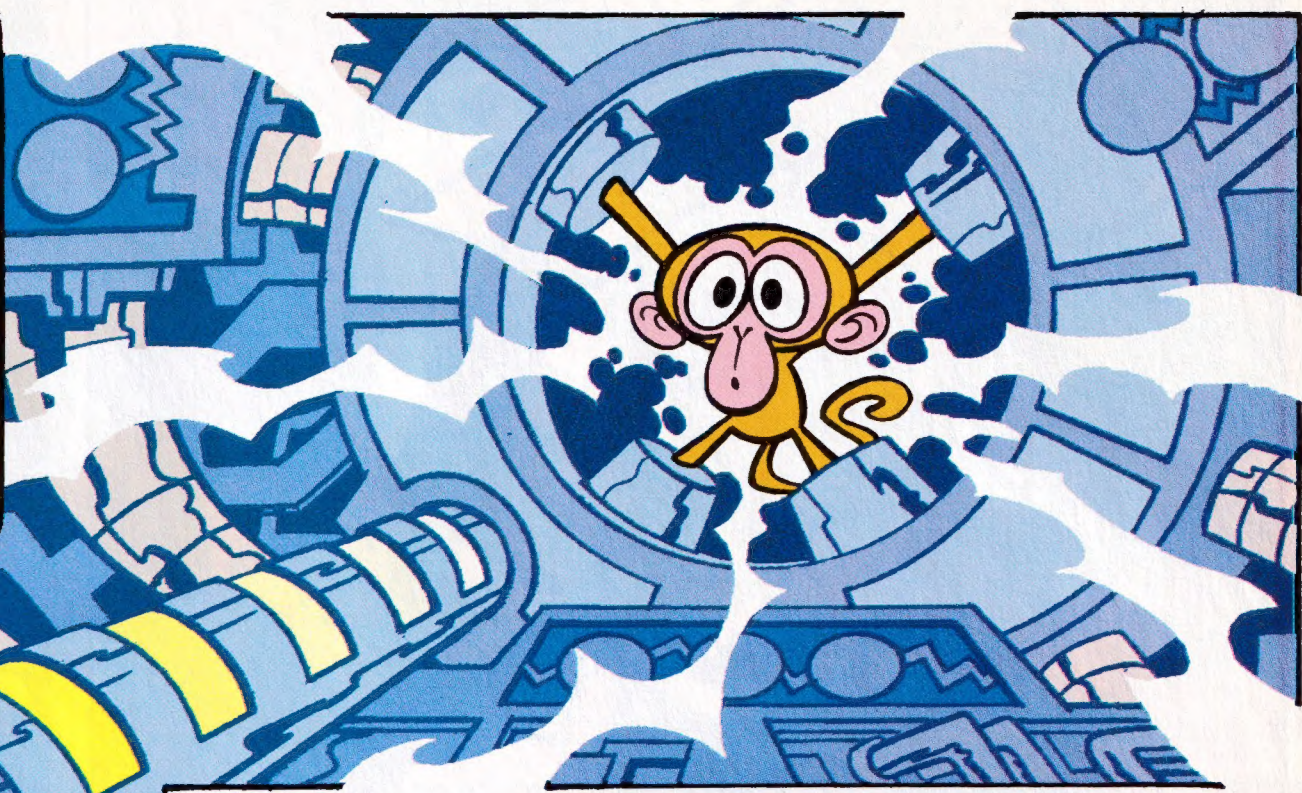

Write your answer together with your name, age and address on the back of a postcard or stuck-down envelope, stick on a stamp and send it to:

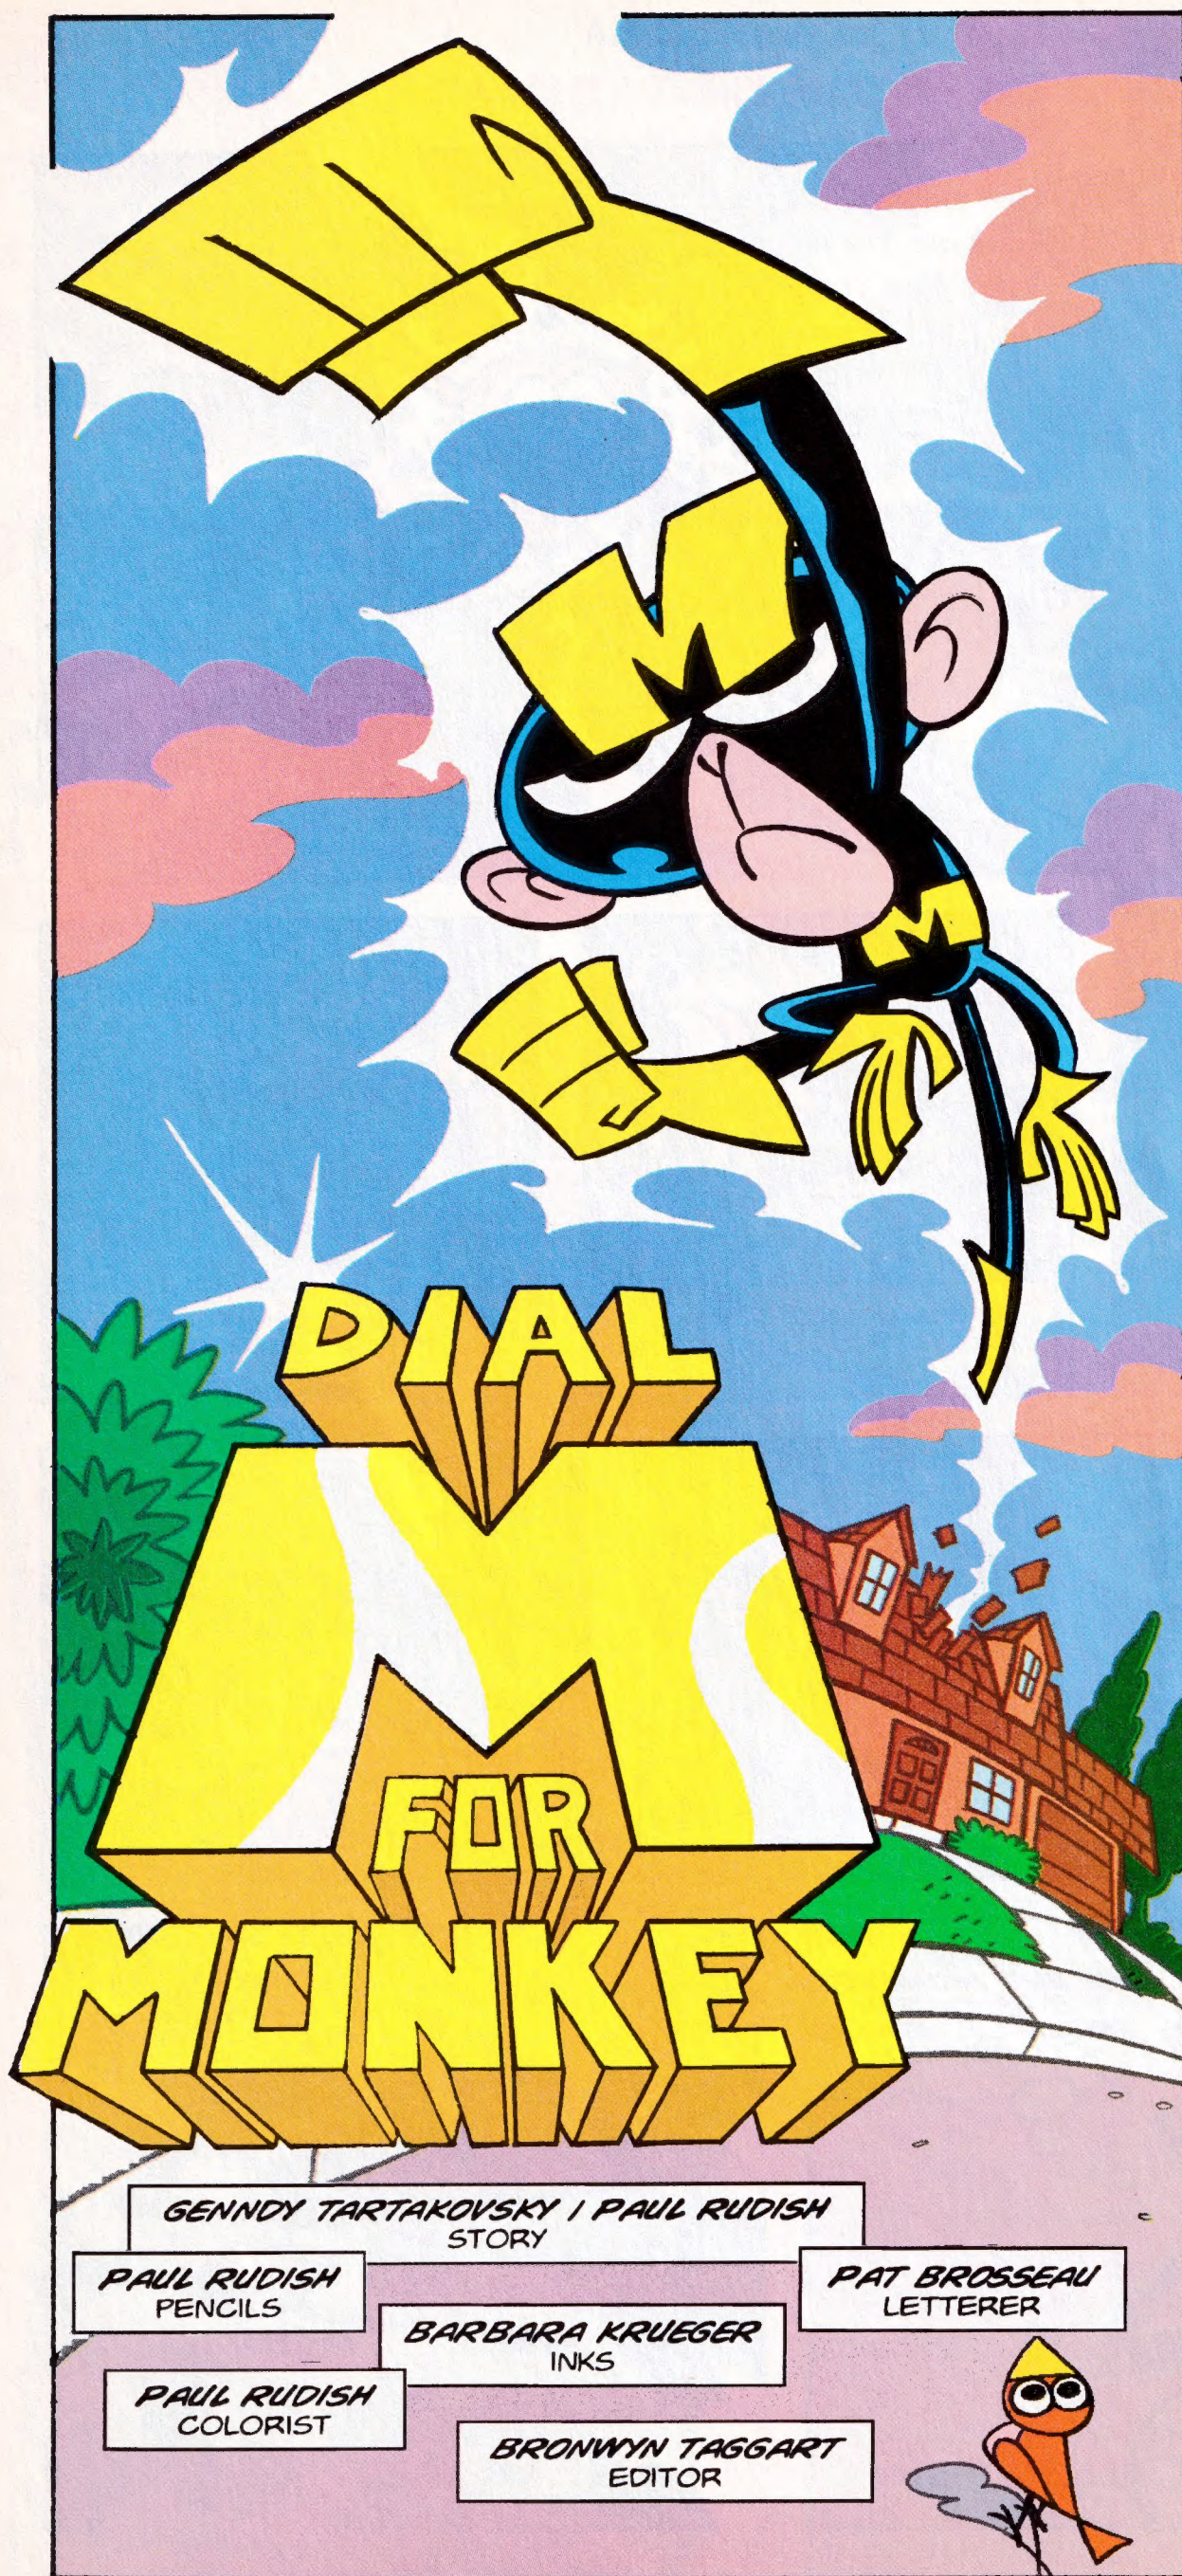

The Broken Sky book competition, Cartoon Network #8, Burghley Publishing Ltd., 14 Barn Hill, Stamford, Lincs., PE4 2AE.

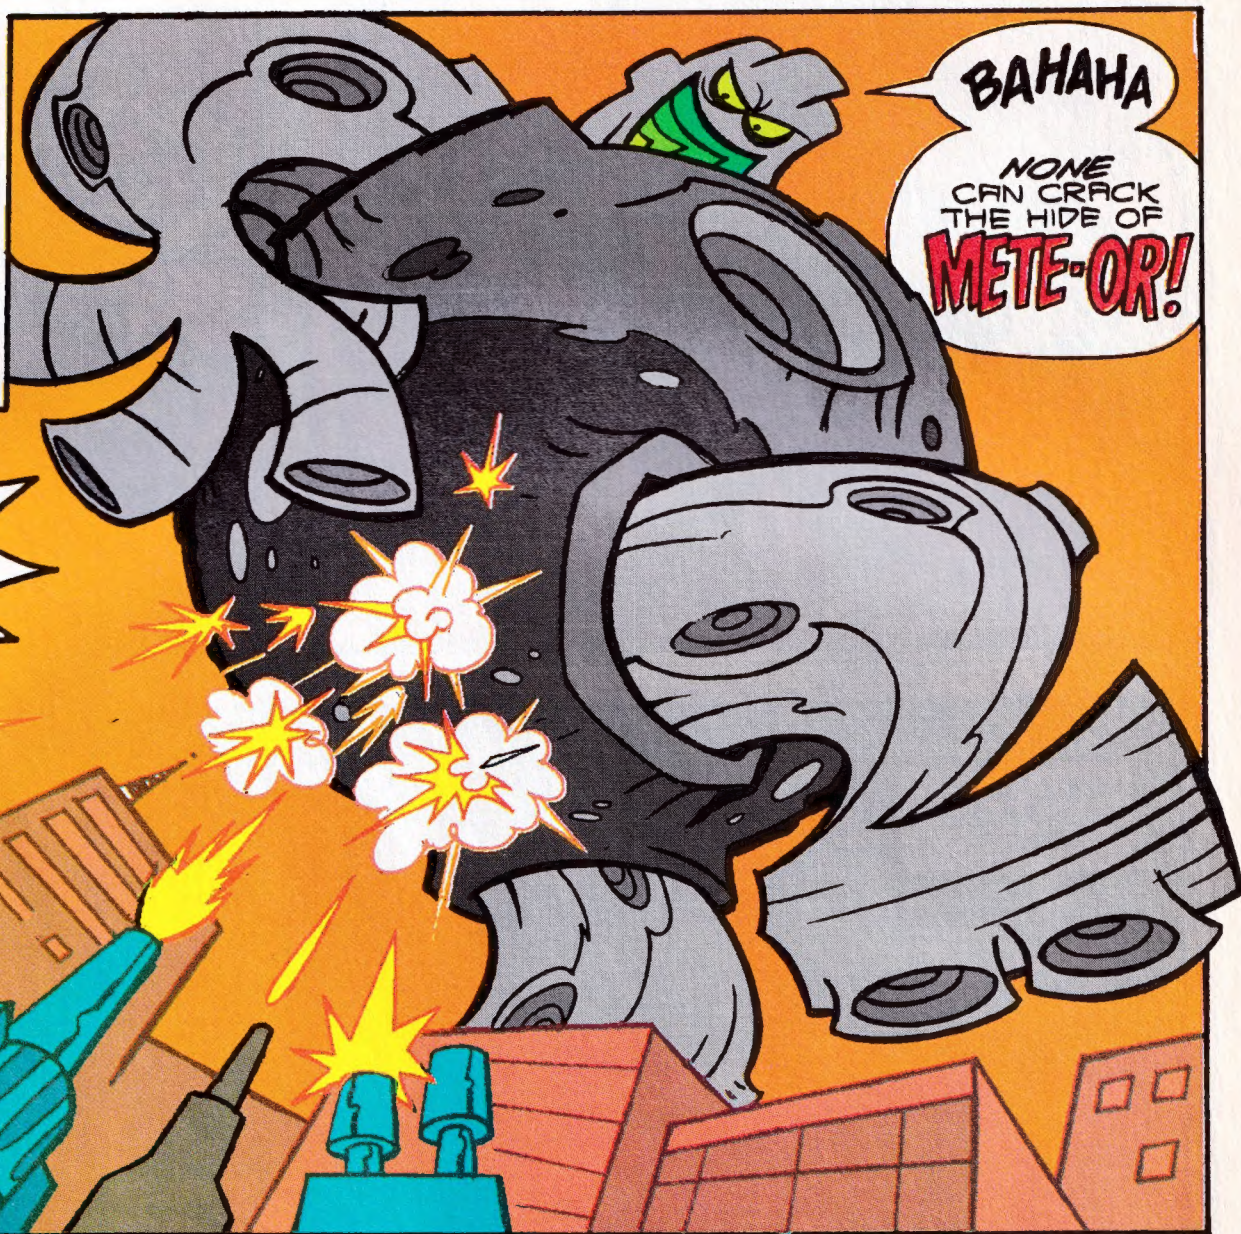

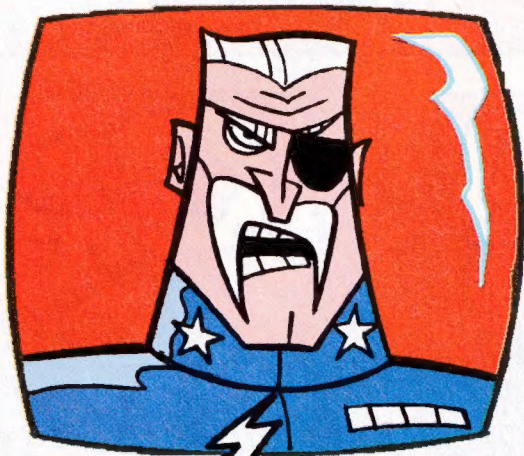

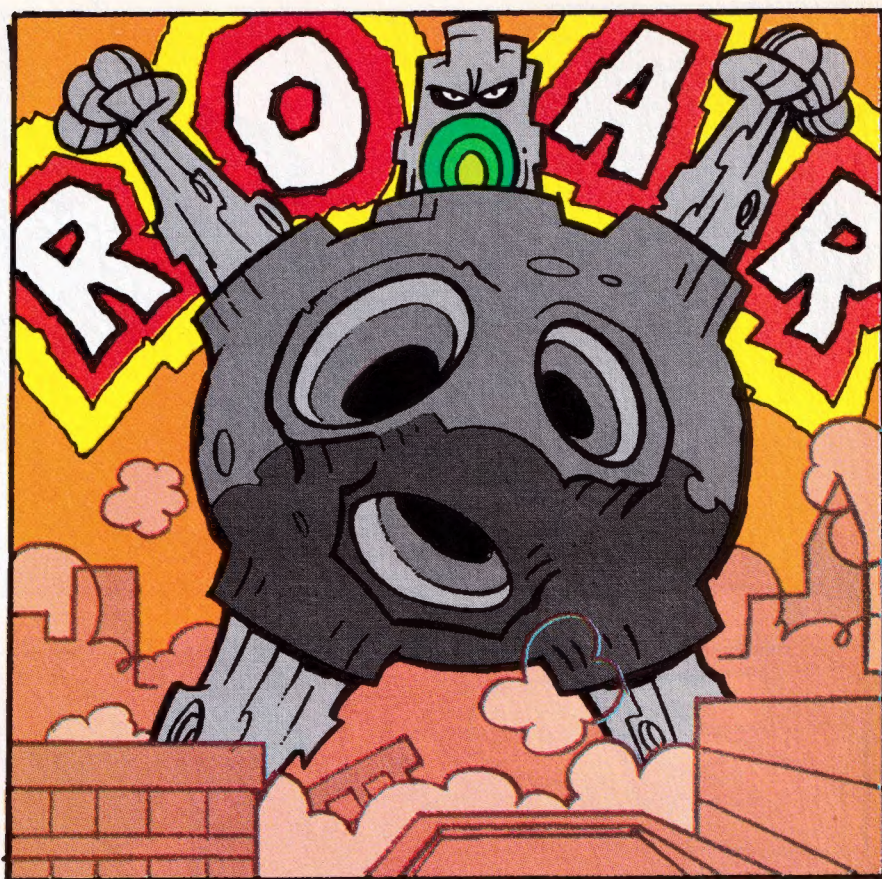

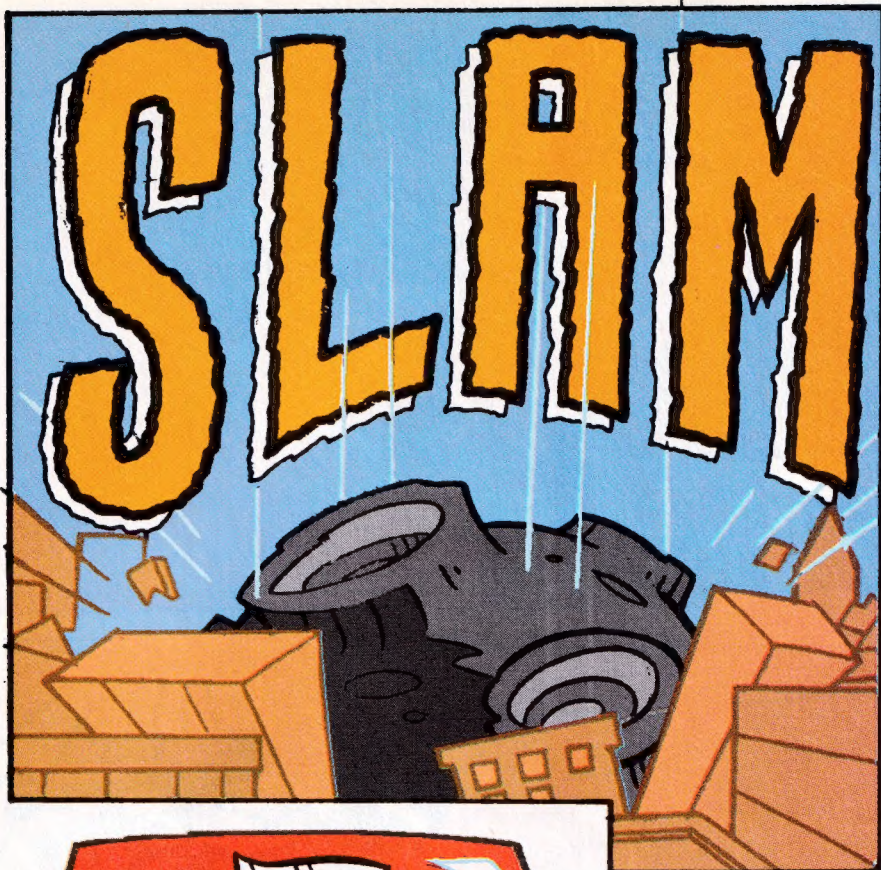

The first 20 correct entries rescued from the King's troops before 22nd April 1999 will each win a set of 3 Broken Sky books from Scholastic.

You've heard of dancing bears.
Well, here's your chance to make a dancing dog!

You will need:

A piece of card, coloured paper, crayons, a pair of scissors, glue, string, split-pins.

Step 1.

Draw the body and the arms of one of the dogs onto the card like those shown in the picture on the right. Colour them in.

Step 2.

Fold the coloured paper as shown to make a bow tie. Wrap a piece of paper across the middle of it to tightly secure it in place.

AH, MY LITTLE KITTEN, YOU ARE HUNGRY FOR YOUR BREAKFAST, YES?

WHAT'S HE GOT THAT WE HAVEN'T? APART FROM A FEROCIOUS DEMEANOUR, I MEAN...

IF WE DISGUISED OURSELVES AS LIONS I BET WE'D GET A TASTY BREAKFAST, TOO...

TASTY... BREAKFAST...

TWO NEW KITTENS WAITING FOR FOOD, EH? TUT-TUT! BREAKFAST MUST BE EARNED...

...WORK FIRST, FOOD LATER, YES?

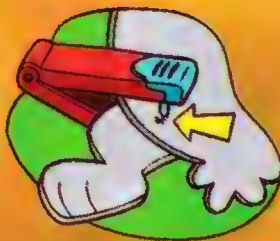

HEY, DOES MY BUM LOOK BIG IN THIS?

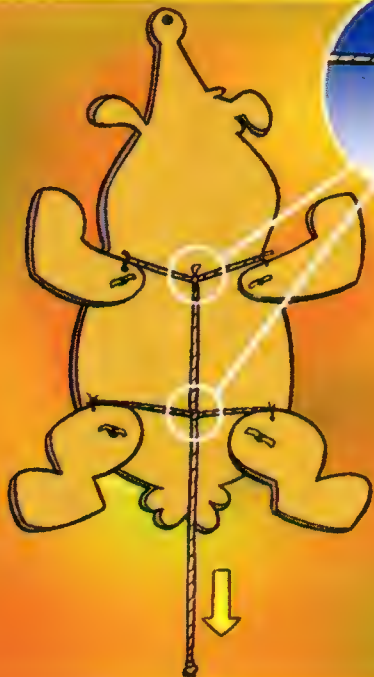

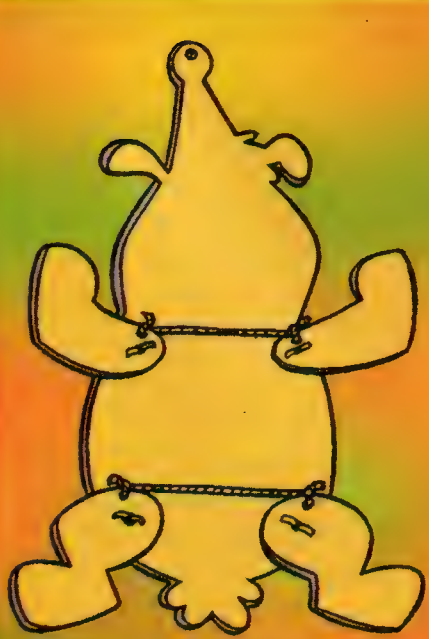

Step 3
Make holes in the arms and legs.

Step 4
Use the split-pins to attach the arms and legs to the body.

Step 5
Tie a short piece of string between the split-pins at the back of the legs.

Step 6
Then do the same at the back of the arms.

Step 7
Finally, attach a third piece of string to the arm and legs strings, leaving a length at the bottom so that when pulled your puppet's arms and legs will move! Ta-da! One dancing dog!

CARTOON NETWORK LETTERS

Katarzyna Sokolowska from Kent has sent us this picture of one of the Powerpuff Girls distant cousins, Bunny.

Everyone who has a picture, letter, photo, settee, teapot, kettle, caterpillar, er...maybe we got a little carried away there! Anyway, anyone who has an item featured on this toon-tastic page will win one of these fabulous 1999 Cartoon Network Annuals! This issue the page has been taken over by the Powerpuff Girls who are busy saving the world before bedtime!

Emma Talley, aged 7, from Chichester has created this fab picture of the girls springing into action. Girl Power!

Thomas Holmes, aged 7, from Northwich has created this snazzy pic of the Powerpuff Girls bursting into action to save the world from the likes of Mojo Jojo and The Amoeba Boys.

Kitty Kaiu from Walworth has created this fab pic of her fave PP girl, happy-go-lucky Bubbles.

In Gina Clark's action-packed picture, the Powerpuff Girls save the day from a band of evil villains once again.

And super-duper idea of the month award goes to Katie from Lincoln who gave us this top suggestion for the free Dexter bookmark given away with our fifth issue. Katie's suggestion was to:
a) Place a piece of paper over the bookmark.
b) Rub a wax crayon over it.
And there you have it! Your very own drawing of Dexter! Dexter says: A cunning master plan! Katie has all the makings of a true genius!

SEND US YOUR WACKY PHOTOS!

We still want to see crazy photos of you, your family, your pets and your friends! These have started to trickle in, but we want MORE! Raid those family albums now!!! Send all your contributions to: CARTOON NETWORK LETTERS, NEWSSTAND PUBLISHING SERVICES, OFFICE BLOCK ONE, SOUTHLINK BUSINESS PARK, SOUTHLINK, OLDHAM OL4 1DE.

COMPETITION

WIN A DANCING BABY!

WHAT'S THAT ALL ABOUT THEN?

Ever seen a baby dance? Ever seen a baby sing? No? Then prepare to go ga-ga over the bizarre but excellent Dancing Baby from Ideal Toys. Crawling, gurgling, crying...they don't! What these babies do is dance, dance and sing, "Ooga-Chaka, Ooga-Ooga, Ooga-Chaka", just like real babies aren't supposed to.

Born on the Web, the brainchild of software company Kinetix, the Dancing Baby took its first steps onto our television screens in August 1998 and since then there has been no looking back with the "Ooga-Chaka" craze sweeping the nation!

Want to care for a Dancing Baby of your very own? Then enter our fab competition and you could win one mounted on a brilliant computer mouse! One click of the mouse and the Dancing Baby moves and grooves to the "Ooga-Chaka" beat! What could be cooler?

Priced at £19.99 in the shops, you can win a Dancing Baby computer mouse if you can answer this simple question:

Which of the following does the Dancing Baby sing?

- a) Uga Bagga Uga Bagga
- b) Ooga-Chaka Ooga-Chaka,
- c) Doo Be Doo Be Doo

Write your answer together with your name, age and address on the back of a postcard or stuck-down envelope, stick on a stamp and send it to: The Dancing Baby Comp, Cartoon Network #8, Burghley Publishing Ltd, 14 Barn Hill, Stamford, Lincs, PE9 2AE.

The first 20 correct entries retrieved from the baby's cot before 22nd April 1999 will each win a delightful Dancing Baby of their very own!

EXPERIMENTS

That cunning Dick Dastardly and his dog Muttley are experts at inventing all types of flying machines in their bid to catch that slippery pigeon, although they often forget one important thing...

"EVERYTHING THAT GOES UP, MUST COME DOWN"

*Klunk says: We lost the wings when we crashed through the tree and although the engine was still working, the airplane no longer had the necessary uplift from the wings to keep it in the air. That's what normally allows our aeroplane to stay in the sky.

HOW TO DEFY GRAVITY!

Flying is the result of the action of a number of forces. But the important one is uplift, which in the case of aeroplanes is caused by air flowing over the wings which lifts the whole aeroplane up. Other flying inventions like the balloon, parachute and the helicopter, although they don't have wings, manage to stay in the air due to the same principle. We have 3 simple experiments for you that will help you to understand this.

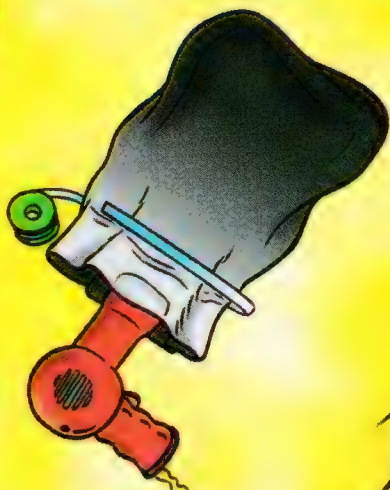

THE BALLOON

You will need:

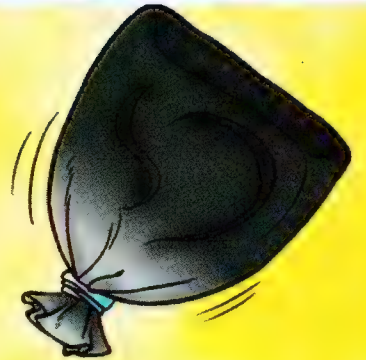

sticky tape, paper bag, hair dryer. Ask an adult to help you with this experiment.

1. Fill the bag with hot air from the hair dryer, taking care that the bag does not get too hot.

2. When the bag is completely inflated, seal the entrance with the sticky tape. Let the bag go and it floats upwards.

How does this happen?

The warm air inside the bag is less dense but the cold air surrounding it is denser. Uplift is achieved from the pressure of the external air, pushing the (lighter-than-air) balloon upwards. Once up in the air, the balloon cools and descends.

PARACHUTE

You will need:

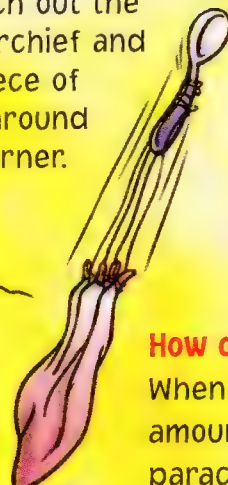

a handkerchief, string and a small spoon.

1. Stretch out the handkerchief and tie a piece of string around each corner.

2. Tie each end of the four cords to the spoon and then throw into the air.

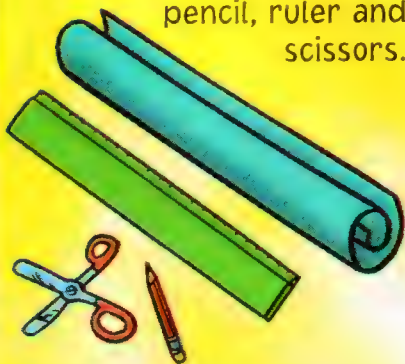

How does this happen?

When the parachute opens, it traps a large amount of air underneath it. This gives the parachute 'drag' as the air underneath the parachute is slowly pushed out of the way. The bigger the parachute, the slower it falls.

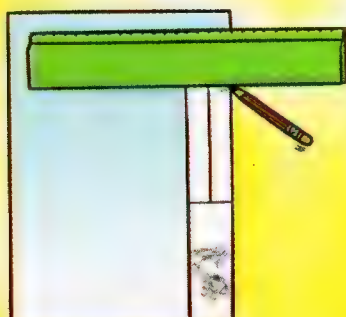

HELICOPTER

You will need:

a piece of card, a pencil, ruler and scissors.

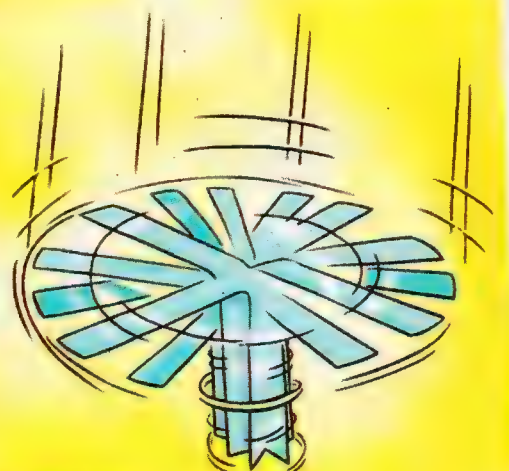

1. Draw a rectangle on the card according to the dimensions shown.

2. Cut out the rectangle and then down the dashed line. Bend the two pieces in opposite directions horizontally as per the diagram.

3. Drop the helicopter from a height and watch it fall down in a spinning motion.

How does this happen?

The helicopter's rotating blades push down on the air below them which makes the helicopter fall slowly.
